NORA-SA

- ROSE Foundation - Initiative
- April 1994 after the government withdrew support for the used oil re-refining industry.
- Previously lubricants were taxed to subsidise the re-refining of used oil back into lubricating oil.
- Major lubricant companies operating in South Africa took it upon themselves to help protect the environment.
- NORA-SA Started in 2004
- Oil recyclers get together to start voluntary initiative – before 2009

Producer driven projects

- Building used oil storage depots
- Manufacturing used oil mini tanks
- Environmental awareness advertising
- Collecting and safely disposing of used oil
- Encouraging collectors and processors of used oil to meet environmental standards

NORA-SA

- No other industry has seen the key players voluntarily form and finance an organisation to solve an environmental problem.
- Prototype for lubricant industries in the rest of the world.... New Zealand, Columbia, Kenya, and by the United Nations based Basel Convention.
